Sept 23/24	Update on total progress since initiation of Practice Issue: Collaborated with Lee Bassett-Privacy Officer. Issues explored at various organizations that were sending reports erroneously. There were a variety of reasons identified for these errors. Some were human errors at the entry at institution level/inappropriate entry of provider in cc field, some were errors at receiving facility when logging results into system, some were procedural at the front-line care level. Conclusion was that this is a varied and complex issue that unfortunately does not have a simple or straight forward solution. The determined solution is that any individual in receipt of an erroneous result/report has the responsibility to ensure that the report is correctly sent to the correct recipient and to notify the appropriate individuals of this error. At this point it seems appropriate to close this clinical practice issue.	Benjamin Wiebe	Benjamin Wiebe
